Journaling Questions - Overcoming Blocks & Awakening Courage

If you know what your goals and ideals are, what's stopping you in your tracks? What's preventing you from having/doing that already?

What are the blocks, patterns or recurring thoughts coming up around your goals?

- Health and Wellness
- Love, Connections and Relationships
- Wealth and Career
- Creative Expression

I invite you to suspend those reasons why you think or feel that you cannot achieve your goals. That's just your inner critic talking - the part of your brain that prefers familiarity, your thinking brain demanding proof, asking "why don't we go back to what we know?". Your thinking brain is designed to keep you safe.

What you have, who you are, and what comes naturally to you is good enough. It is your superpower, and it's why you are here on this Earth. Don't let that voice in your head slow you down!

Your psychology, aka your mindset or your heart-set, is the main thing that will determine your success. What you believe determines your thoughts, your actions, which determines your reality.

So what new, empowering beliefs do want to have around your goals? What would the You who has achieved all that you desire, believe?
